Part II Reading Comprehension (40%)

Passage 1

Surfing(浏览) the Internet can be as addictive(上瘾的) as drugs, alcohol or gambling, a researcher from University of Pittsburgh said last month.

In a study of almost 400 men and women in Canada, researchers found Internet addiction caused people to spend 40 hours or more a week online. Most of them often got involved in role-playing games or chat room discussion.

One 17-year-old boy was so addicted to the Internet activities that his parents had to admit him to a hospital for 10 days' treatment.

One woman was described by friends and family as a perfect wife and mother. She became so addicted to the Internet that she would not cook or clean and was neglecting her children and husband, because she was spending as much as 12 hours a day talking to people on the Internet. Finally her husband said, "Choose me or the computer." She divorced him.

Kimberly Young, an assistant professor of psychology at the University of Pittsburgh, found that 76 per cent of the subjects(调查对象) in the study spend an average of 40 hours a week on the Internet.

Of 396 people who met Young's criteria(标准) for addicted Internet users, 157 were men, 239 women. The men were younger with an average age of 29; the women average 43 years of age. Passage 2

Many parents complain that their teenage children are rebelling (叛逆). I wish it were so. At this age you ought to be growing away from your parents. You should be learning to stand on your own feet.

But take a good look at the present rebellion. It seems that teenagers are all taking the same way of showing that they disagree with their parents. They say they want to dress as they please, but all of them wear the same clothes. They set off in new directions in music, but all of them end up listening to the same record. Their reason for thinking or acting is that the others are doing it that way.

It has become harder and harder for a teenager to stand up against the popularity wave and go his or her own way. These days every teenager can learn from the advertisements what a teenager should have and be. And many of today's parents have come to award(给予) high marks for the popularity of their children. All this adds up to a great barrier for the teenager who wants to find his or her own path.

But the barrier is worth climbing over. The path is worth following. You may want to listen to classical music instead of going to a party. You may want to collect rocks when everyone else is collecting records and stamps. Well, go to it. Find yourself. Be yourself. Popularity will come with the people who respect you for who you are. That's the only kind of popularity that really counts.

44. Which of the following is one way of "climbing over the barrier" according to the author?

- A. Listening to classical music.

Passage 3

A moment's drilling by the dentist may make us nervous and upset. Many of us cannot stand pain. To avoid the pain of a drilling that may last perhaps a minute or two, we demand the needle that deadens the nerves around the tooth.

Now it's true that the human body has developed its millions of nerves to be highly aware of what goes on both inside and outside it. This helps us adjust to the world. Without our nerves and our brain, we wouldn't know what's happening. But we pay for our sensitivity. We can feel pain when the slightest thing is wrong with any part of our body. The history of torture(酷刑) is based on the human body being open to pain.

But there is a way to handle pain. Some Indian monks can sit on a bed of nails. Fakirs(托钵僧) can put a needle right through an arm, and feel no pain. This ability that some humans have developed to handle pain should give us ideas about how the mind can deal with pain.

The big thing in standing pain is our attitude toward it. If the dentist says this will hurt a little, it helps us to accept the pain. By staying relaxed, and by treating the pain as an interesting sensation(感觉), we can handle the pain calmly. After all, although pain is an unpleasant sensation, it is still a sensation, and sensations are the stuff of life.

46. The word “deaden” in paragraph 1 probably means “_____”.

B. restrain
C. improve

D. Everyone should try his best to avoid pain.
50. The most important thing to handle pain is how to _____.
- A. avoid pain
B. put up with pain
C. look at pain
D. stop pain

Passage 4

There is a popular belief among parents that schools are no longer interested in spelling. No school I have taught in has ever ignored spelling or considered it unimportant as a basic skill. There are, however, vastly different ideas about how to teach it, or how much priority(优先) it must be given over general language development and writing ability. The problem is how to encourage a child to express himself freely and confidently in writing without holding him back with the complexities(复杂性) of spelling.

If spelling becomes the only focus of his teacher's interest, clearly a bright child will be likely to play safe. He will tend to write only words within his spelling range, choosing to avoid adventurous language. That's why teachers often encourage the early use of dictionaries and pay attention to content rather than technical ability.

I was once shocked to read on the bottom of a piece of writing about a personal experience: “This work is terrible! There are far too many spelling errors in the writing, but it was also a sad reflection on the teacher who had feelings.” The teacher was not wrong to draw attention to the errors, but of his priorities had centered on the child’s ideas, an expression of his disappointment with the presentation would have encouraged the pupil to improve his writing.

51. Which of the following is true according to paragraph 1?
- A. Parents are not interested in spelling.
- B. Schools are not interested in spelling.
- C. Teachers must give top priority to spelling.
- D. Complex spelling prevents free writing.

52. From the passage, we can infer that _____.
 A. parents support how the schools teach spelling.
 B. parents don't know how the schools teach spelling
 C. people agree on the importance of spelling in writing
 D. people agree on how to teach spelling in writing

 A. pay more attention to the ideas B. write freely and smoothly
 C. avoid words he is not sure of D. use dictionaries very early
54. Which of the following is true according to the last paragraph?
 A. The writing did not truly reflect the feelings.
 B. The teacher liked the writing very much.

76. 【参考范文】

Dear Li Ming,

How are you? Although we are admitted to different universities, I always have concern for you deep in my heart. And I'm writing to you because I heard that you'd spent much of your time playing online games and had failed in several subjects in your final exam. I do hope that you will give it up.

In my opinion, playing online games will do nothing but waste a lot of time, and affect your study. Time is so precious for us students at present that we should make good use of it to learn more knowledge instead of playing online games all day long. Besides, playing online games for a long time will do harm to your health.

I do hope you will consider my suggestion, and stop playing online games.

Yours,
Zhang Xin
